A group of eleven men, the members of the Waterford & District Cricket Club, are posed for a group photograph in front of a light-colored stone building. The building features a prominent red door with a semi-circular fanlight above it, flanked by two black lantern-style light fixtures. To the right of the door are two tall, narrow, multi-paned windows. The men are arranged in two rows. The front row consists of seven men, mostly wearing white cricket shirts, with one man in a black t-shirt and a black cap. The back row has four men, including one in a blue tracksuit on the far left. The overall atmosphere is professional and team-oriented.
